MICHAEL R. SPRECKELMEIER NAMED EPA CERTIFIED RENOVATOR

Fort Myers, FL –January 22, 2010

Progressive Builders, Inc. has been certified by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) as an official EPA Certified Renovator. This certification allows the firm to conduct lead safe renovations and to repair painting work in pre-1978 housing and child-occupied facilities where work would disturb lead-based coatings.

A new law instituted by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) on April 22, 2010, will require remodelers working in homes built before 1978 to test for lead and be certified to work in areas in the home containing lead using lead safety practices.

“Lead is extremely dangerous for both adults and children. Just a tiny amount of exposure to children can cause severe neurological damages, and can lead to hypertension, muscle and joint pain, fatigue and nausea in adults”, added Michael Spreckelmeier.

Michael R. Spreckelmeier, President of Progressive Builders, Inc. has now completed all the necessary training and is now EPA certified. By successfully completing the EPA Certified Renovator course, he has learned how to meet the lead-safe work practice standards as well as other requirements in the EPA regulation.

Progressive Builders, Inc. is a professional Design/Build remodeling company located in Fort Myers, Florida and is proud to be celebrating their 20th year of serving Southwest Florida. It had been named to the Top 500 list of remodeling firms nationwide numerous times over the past several years which is a highly respected honor. They are also the only contractor in Lee County to be awarded the Big 50 Award by Remodeling Magazine for the highest levels of professionalism and integrity.
